What is BlackBox

We are peer2peer decentralised currency that empowers its holders transactions, or integrated into your e-commerce business to accept merchant payments for goods and services.

What sets us apart from other lending platforms? BlackBox uses an advance AI trading bot to generate our daily interest payout to customers who lend on our platform. Let BlackBox work for your money, so you don't have to.

Why BlackBox

Centralized banking systems are the most dominant scams on Earth, and their fiat is declining through new prints of money otherwise called quantitative easing. How do banks create profit? Debt. The U.S. Dollar has declined more than 50% in value in the last 50 years. With practices of fractional reserve banking, banks are fraudulently creating money out of thin air, along with inflation, and earning profit through interest on money that they don't own.

BlackBox Lending platform utilizes blockchain technology, decentralized integration and p2p systems that can be mined, and invested in, to create a currency that increases in value, and eliminates the middle man.

Many lending platforms claim to have a trading bot that generates funds for their platform. There is not one lending platform that exercises transparency in the operation of the bot like we do. BlackBox Lending ensures our customers through the transparency of our operation. By using BlackBox, the ease of generating income is at your disposal. Our daily lives demand our time, so Black Box ensures profit, and works for you when you cannot.

The Users of Cindicator that repeatedly forecast accurate results of the market are rewarded in a ranking system and payment in Cindicator tokens. With this incentive for users to predict the market accurately, Black Box will pass criterion. The BlackBox Lending's bot will work in tandem Cindicator's artificial intelligence data to exponentially improve functionality, ensure profit, and guarantee great interest rates for our lenders.

Our Mission

The mission of the BlackBox Lending project is to assist individuals with receiving high quality crypto currency services. The actions of all lending platforms in the current market contradict this simple, and understandable goal and in this case, BlackBox Lending acts as their antagonist.

Large lending platforms are seeking to give you services with no transparency of functionality. In this current state, it is a matter of time until their functions dissatisfy all their users. Black Box will provide an open infrastructure for many market participants who will be able to mine, invest, stake and trade. We are confident that this way is more effective, and therefore, it will prove to be long term and effectively sustainable.

As the founders of BlackBox Lending, we are striving to build a platform that will effectively oppose any attempts of subpar lending services. We are confident investors will benefit with a byproduct of this goal.
